Volunteer Spotlight

The next time you see Joann Freedman, you might want to say “thank you”. For well over a year, Joann has served as the Oneg Coordinator, ensuring we always have a tasty treat at the end of services. Maybe it’s the retired nurse in her, but she keeps busy taking care of us and you can almost imagine her saying ... “Eat! Eat!”

She is usually one of the first to arrive at services for setup, and one of the last to leave. You’ll find her in the kitchen washing dishes as the evening winds down and with an armload of dirty tablecloths to be washed as she walks out the door. She is a pleasure to know and a treasure to CBT.

She is first to step up to the plate, not only to serve a plate, but also to coordinate events such as the TuB’Svat program with the Boulder JCC. She is a joyful presence at CBT and although we know she has a busy life with her children and grandchildren, her adventurous travels and hikes, gardening, practicing yoga, we are grateful for her delightful presence!

The congregation as a whole could not operate without our multitude of wonderful volunteers. We are ever appreciative of your kindness and contributions, and we thank you.

B’Nai Torah Mitzvah Committee

The Mitzvah Committee is here for CBT’s members in times of need.

Contact Elissa at 303-666-0853 or eroselyn@mindspring.com if you or another member you know is in need of help (such as a health crisis) or if you are interested in being called when a need arises.

Cooking Corner

Grandma Jane's Brisket

Ingredients:

- First cut brisket (should be triangular shaped )
- 1 32-40 oz. bottle of ketchup
- [2 cups ginger ale (diet or not depending on preference)
- 2 packets onion soup mix

Steps:

- Pre-heat oven to 350 degrees
- Combine soup mix, ketchup and ginger ale
- Put brisket in deep pan
- Pour mixture all over and underneath
- Cover pan tightly with aluminum foil on all sides
- Cook for 3 hours (don't uncover it)
- Remove from the oven and unwrap carefully.
- Test for tenderness with a fork
- When tender enough, remove brisket from pan and place on cutting board
- Let cool, leaving mixture in pan
- When brisket is cool enough, cut meat on a diagonal
- Replace pieces of meat into pan to re-absorb the liquid
- Enjoy! ~Scott Raynes

Religious School Happenings

CBT Religious School is humming along nicely. At the end of last term, after 2 Bat Mitzvahs we had 10 students. I included all the names I collected at children's services from parents with school age children and included them in the mailing I do in August. From that mailing and I'm sure from word of mouth (letting people know how friendly and welcoming we are) that we started this term with 27 students - 4 or 5 of whom are pre-K once a monthers.

Based on age and previous Jewish education we're still working out placing each student in the right class. We've just about got it down so thanks everyone for their patience. Robert, Roberta and Chance have been coping very well with the new and very welcome influx.

We had a great Sukkot celebration with the kids and their families on October 16 and are looking forward to Ethan Hendricks Bar Mitzvah on November 12. Ethan is a long time faithful student and is collecting all kinds of dog/pet food for the local pet shelter for his mitzvah project. There is a carton under the table in Nickles Hall for your contributions.
